Weapons Search Starts

Unarmed Guards Examine Each Wing Of Penitentiary After Riot Ends

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP) — Eight unarmed guards marched into cell block 6 today to begin a wing by wing search of the State Penitentiary for weapons prisoners may have hidden during a two-day revolt.

The guards were under orders to "secure" each cellblock, move the prisoners into the yard, and report back to the prison administration building.

Prison officials said the plan was to herd the prisoners more than 1,700 inmates into the yard, lock off each of the seven wings and search each cell and each prisoner individually.

Thirty-eight state patrolmen, each carrying a 30-30 rifle backed up by armed guards, lined walls of the institution surrounding the yard as the search got under way.

The state patrol detail was in charge of Lt. Charles Hall who said his orders were to "protect the security of the wall only."

"Our orders are to act only in case the wall is breached."

The first guards entered the cellblock more than two hours after the 5 a.m. deadline set by prison officials and revolt leaders to regain control of the institution.

Many guards at first balked at entering the building without an armed task force preceding them to protect against violence.

The eight guards were unarmed, however. Prison authorities said this was to demonstrate to the inmates every effort was being made to avert trouble.

Guards began their holdout late last night after a check showed only a couple of dozen weapons, possibly a third of those believed to be in the hands of the convicts, had been turned in.

The guards demanded that state patrolmen and national guard troops be sent in with them on the shakedown and the prisoners ordered out on the compound. Warden Lawrence Delmore Jr. scoffed at their fears and said he was certain the shakedown could be completed without incident.

Nine hostages were released when Dr. Thomas Harris, state director of institutions, signed a nine-point agreement with five of the 33 toughs who staged the original revolt. The rebellion eventually embraced half the prison and its 1,700 inmates.

But, the guards said, they had no assurance they wouldn't replace the original hostages or suffer an even worse fate at the hands of angry convicts.

It was feared the inmates had heard that Arthur Hawman, county prosecutor, had announced he would prosecute the ringleaders.

Local CAP Members Join Plane Search Until It Is Located

Capt. Jack Kehl and senior member Dale Lane left in a Sedalia Civil Air Patrol Squadron L5 aircraft to participate in a search for an Air Force F94 jet reported missing on a flight from Grandview Air Force Base to Nashville, Tenn., late yesterday.

The missing aircraft was located on the ground at Lambert Field this morning. Pilots Kehl and Lane returned to Sedalia as soon as the search was officially closed by Air Rescue Service at 8:55 a.m. today.

According to the Associated Press, the pilot had landed in St. Louis because of bad weather on south. The CAA radio center said there apparently had been some confusion over the plane's serial number.

The plane left Grandview at 5:37 p.m. and landed in St. Louis about an hour later. It carried a two-hour supply of fuel. The purpose of the flight was not available.

The Memory Fades

It's always tough to get used to summer weather, but maybe the worst of it is past now that we have all become limp and resigned. The memory of cool days will recede gradually and the contrast will not seem so great.

Generally fair and continued warm tonight and Friday. Low tonight in low 70s; high Friday 90 to 95.

The temperature at 7 a.m. was 70, at 2 p.m. it was 94 degrees.

The temperature one year ago today, high 101, low 79; two years ago, high 90, low 63; and three years ago, high 95, low 77, with .09 inch of rainfall.

Stage at Lake of the Ozarks 58.1, steady.

Have Identical Families—

Two Sisters Present Dads With Two Boys Last Sunday

Sunday was a big day for two Sedalia sisters, for on that day they both became mothers of sons. They are sharing the same room at Bothwell Hospital, where their babies were born, and they are having a grand time, so happy that the big event in both their lives happened on the same day.

Of course this was not the first big event for either of them—they both have three other children, identical families, two girls and a boy—and now they think that it is wonderful that each of them should have their fourth child and second son on the very same day.

It was at 3:30 a.m. on Sunday, July 3, a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Fischer, 1610 West Tenth, weighing eight pounds, two ounces. He has been named Keith Edwin. The other children in the Fischer family are Peggy, seven years old, Kathy, five, and Danny, three and a half.

At 6:30 p.m. the same day a son, weighing seven pounds, five ounces, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Karigan, 1842 South Beacon. He has been named Jeffrey Joseph. The other children in the Karigan family are Carol Beth, four and a half; Martha Ann, three and a half; and Stevie, 15 months.

The mothers are the daughters of Mrs. Walter Kraus, 1108 South Sneed. Mrs. Fisher was Julia

Asks Teachers To Encourage Science Pupils

CHICAGO (AP)—A top atomic scientist today called on teachers, for the sake of the nation, to inspire exceptional students to go into scientific research.

Dr. Willard F. Libby of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said Atomic Energy Commission said the shortage of scientists and engineers "is a matter of serious concern."

In a speech prepared for delivery to the National Education Assn. he said "only about 2 per cent of those judged mentally capable of obtaining Ph. D. degrees do so." Libby blamed the shortage on "inadequate" instruction in the colleges and secondary schools, a mistaken belief that the fields of discovery are narrowing, and lack of financial reward.

Libby, on leave himself from the University of Chicago faculty, called on the teachers to "inspire" the "superior" student to go on to greater things.

He said: "It is very important that adequate attention always be paid to this small but important fraction of the classes in mathematics and the sciences in high school. In many instances, only inspirational teaching will suffice. Nothing short of an attitude of this sort will excite and maintain their interest."

Test Is Too Tough For Young Plumbers

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—That written test was just too tough for the boss seeking journeyman plumbers' licenses.

It "tended to confuse the candidate rather than measure his ability," the Texas State Board of Plumbing Examiners reported.

Worried because only 61 per cent passed the test, the board examined its examinations and reported the written questions were aimed at people with an 11th-grade reading level. The average test-taker, the board said, has a 9th-grade reading level.

The questions were simplified and emphasis put on practical plumbing demonstrations.

Nehru Visits Italy

ROME (AP)—India's Prime Minister Nehru arrived in Rome today from Yugoslavia for a two-day visit Italian Premier Antonio Segni met him at the airport. Nehru will have an audience with Pope Pius XII tomorrow and meet President Giovanni Gronchi later.

Weird Sea Saga Begins

Radio SOS Call Says Boat Wreck Survivors Taken By a Submarine

NEW YORK (AP) — A fantastic saga of the sea — and possibly one of its greatest hoaxes — was touched off in the predawn hours today with a strange radio report that survivors from a flame-swept fishing boat had been picked up by a foreign submarine.

Many hours later it was just as big a mystery as when the story began to unfold at 2:25 a.m.

A sweeping air and sea search produced only one feeble possibility of a clue to whether anything at all actually had happened.

This was an unmarked life jacket, found by a Coast Guard cutter about five miles from the scene of the purported boat distress. It was estimated to have been in the water less than 24 hours.

The affair got off to a frantic start when a tugboat out of New York picked up a radio message from what was said to be the 40-foot fishing boat, Blue Star.

This message said that the Blue Star, with 21 persons aboard, had hit an unidentified object, had caught fire and was sinking some 30 miles east of Barnegat, N.J., or about 55 miles southeast of the entrance to New York harbor.

The tug was about 50 miles from the spot.

During the next hour the tugboat, the Nancy Moran, had various reports from the purported vessel in distress, then at times reception became poor and communications failed.

Among other things, the tugboat was told that fire continued to sweep the craft, that there was an explosion in the engine room, that the boat had a hole in the stern and that it was sinking. Life rafts were said to have been destroyed by the flames.

At one time, said Capt. Mitchell C. Sullivan of the tugboat, his radio informant expressed belief he would have to jump off the fishing boat.

Then there was a scream and 20 minutes of silence.

Finally, between 3:35 and 3:40 a.m., the radio telephone voice came through once more and, in extreme agitation, reported:

"A submarine is surfacing about 350 yards from us. It is coming alongside. It is proceeding to take survivors aboard. It is not an American submarine."

Following this were the last words: "I don't think they'll let me talk any more."

From the start the tug captain relayed his communications to the Coast Guard in New York.

The Coast Guard sent four ships and two planes racing to the location given by the Blue Star.

But the searchers found — save for the unmarked life jacket — nothing.

Queen's Fruit Juice On Trial In Court

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — The question of who's going to pay for Queen Elizabeth's grapefruit juice hasn't been settled.

In 1953, Barney J. Cohen, Orlando citrus man, thought it a good idea for Florida to send her 800 cases for the coronation.

He campaigned for subscriptions. Southern Fruit Distributors Inc. of Orlando made the shipment. In court yesterday Southern Fruit contended it had been paid only $350 and asked for $1,370 more.

Cohen said he started the promotion only as a public service and was not obligated. Only $650 was subscribed, and some of that was not paid, he said.

The jurors reported themselves in disagreement. Judge Terry B. Patterson sent them home without indicating whether the case would be tried.

Still Hope If Good Weather Comes—

Rains Throughout Pettis County Damage Ripened Oat Crop Ready For Harvesting

With few Pettis County farmers wishing to specifically say that their own oat crop have been hurt by the rains of the last few days the fact remains quite evident.

With rains falling in intermittent amounts throughout the large areas of the county within the last two days the oat crop, which started out to be a bumper affair has lost portions of the ripened grain back to the soil from which it came.

The battering rains, with falls up to 2½ inches in an hour's period have been instrumental in flattening the oats to the ground right at the time when the harvest was to begin.

Mr. Virgil Griffin, manager of the Missouri Farmer's Association in Sedalia, hesitated to make a guess at the actual extent of the damage to the ripened grain. However, after examining the number of bushels taken in today as compared with what the expectation was, he estimates that the crop might have been damaged to the extent of 15-25 per cent of the total crop.

Early expectations for the oat crop were high with early yields of 65 bushels per acre being common. However, it seems that this

TRIO AND AUTOMOBILE-DRIVEN RAFT—Three University of Minnesota youths pause at St. Louis, Mo., while enroute from New Orleans to St. Paul, Minn., to make repairs to their automobile-driven raft. The raft's power source, a 1939 Chevrolet sedan which cost $15, is mounted on the platform with the rear end of a second automobile under it, with a propeller attached. The two sets of rear wheels make contact with each other, turning the propeller shaft. The youths are, left to right: Fred Hallberg, David Rutford and Donald Gray. (NEA Telephoto)

To Do Things Postponed—

To Retire After 33 Years In Knob Noster As Carrier

Russell Kendrick of Knob Noster, who has served for the past 33 years as rural mail carrier in that community, retired July 1, and from now on plans to take life easy and do some of the many things he has wanted to do but never seemed to find time.

Kendrick was born on a farm seven miles southeast of Knob Noster and taught school in Montserrat for one year before entering the service of the Knob Noster post office in May, 1922. That was in the horse and buggy days for mail carriers and there were no gravel roads. It was often very late when he would get in, sometimes after midnight, and on occasions he had to walk part of the 24-mile mail route north of Knob Noster known as Route 11.

The weather has no pity for mail carriers and especially rural mail carriers of that day so the going was sometimes pretty rough, and the experiences many.

For 12 years he served Route 11, then he asked to be transferred to Route 3, south of Knob Noster. This route is 48 miles long but by that time they had cars instead of the horse and buggy and roads were being gravelled in spots, so it was a lot better.

As time marches on the car was replaced on the three routes out of Knob Noster by a more modern method. No, it isn't by special airmail. Knob Noster hasn't taken up delivering of mail by plane, yet, but it has put on three mechanized versions of the Missouri mule—those things called Jeeps.

Kendrick served under two postmasters and three acting postmasters.

Now, as he looks back, it has been a rather hard struggle at times but it has been work where he has made many good friends along the route he has traveled—it has been a very satisfying life, this of a rural mail carrier. His wife, Florence, the former Florence White of Sedalia, is the Knob Noster correspondent for The Sedalia Democrat-Capital.

Interior Minister Osvaldo Koch last night blamed the strike on "professional agitators" and urged workers to give the government a chance to deal with Chile's inflation.

Koch warned that pay boosts now would destroy the nation's economy. He said President Carlos Ibanez planned to freeze prices and wages and would punish profiteering. He urged Chileans to help fight inflation by boosting production.

CUT leader Clotario Blest told workers last night Ibanez should introduce economic reforms or get out.

Chile's living costs soared 31.3 per cent in the first five months of 1955 by the government's own statistics. Unofficial estimates place the figure much higher.

Blest, who has visited Moscow as a guest of the Soviet government, has introduced a CUT platform demanding "reconquest of the country's basic resources" and repeal of Chile's law "for the defense of democracy," which proscribes Communist activities in the country.

Similar interim committees have functioned in the past without any questions being raised about them.

TEXAS U. CONSIDERS Admitting Negroes

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—University of Texas regents met today to discuss whether the school and its many branches should be opened to Negroes.

Graduate students have attended the main university here since 1930 when the U.S. Supreme Court struck down the "separate but equal" graduate school theory. But Negro undergraduates have not been admitted either to the main university or its branches.

INSIDE STORIES

It's getting hot and there has already appeared the summer outbreak of odd human actions that accompany a rise in temperature. For instance, on Page 2, Section 1 is the story of a man seized for pawing money. They can't find a violation.

On the same page is the news that a freighter has sailed away under sealed orders after a near riot prevented its cargo of clay from being unloaded in Sheboygan, Wisconsin.

But the best one of all is on Page 4, Section 1, the revelation that the Marine sergeant who divorced his wife to reenlist, only to have the divorce voided didn't have to go to all that trouble. The Marines would have taken him anyhow.

Approves Foreign Aid Bill

Amount Is Dropped From Original Ike Request, Mostly In Military Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today passed by voice vote a $3,285,800,000 foreign aid authorization bill and sent it to the House for expected final congressional action.

The measure is 123 million dollars less than President Eisenhower asked. The difference was mainly found in a House decision to reduce direct military aid funds by 145 million dollars.

The bill came to the stage of final action in a swirl of controversy over charges the Defense Department "obligated" more than half a billion dollars of military aid funds the last day of the fiscal year—June 30.

Critics contended the purpose was to avoid an express provision in the new bill forbidding the administration from carrying into the new fiscal year more than 2000 million dollars from past aid money not yet spent or obligated.

House members of a Senate-House Conference Committee which produced the final version of the bill said in a formal report to the House:

"The conferees were shocked at the wholesale reservations reported to have been made in the Defense Department during the last few days of the fiscal year in order to 'save' their appropriations from 'losses.'"

On the other side of the argument, secret testimony was made public to the effect that the Defense Department would face a "complete reprogramming" of arms aid if old appropriations were canceled.

Adlai Says Ike Fails to Keep School Promise

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson says President Eisenhower promised the American school system "some prompt effective help" 2½ years ago, "but nothing has been done."

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee attacked Eisenhower's program of school aid in a speech last night to the National Education Assn.

Stevenson quoted President Eisenhower as saying just after he assumed office:

"Our school system demands some prompt effective help."

"Instead of 'prompt effective help' Stevenson added, 'we await a conference on education to be held at the White House next fall.

Penitentiary Power Plant Knocked Out By Generator Fire

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Fire broke out in the old power plant inside the Missouri Penitentiary walls today, plunging the prison into darkness.

The flames were quenched in a few minutes by the Jefferson City fire department and Warden Ralph N. Eidson said the damage would be repaired in a short time.

The blaze broke out during the noon hour.

Eidson said L. W. Fitzpatrick, chief engineer, reported that an overload apparently burned out a cable in an old generator. He said power would be available again as soon as the cable was spliced.

The penitentiary gets its power from a newer generating plant outside the prison walls. Eidson said the inside generator is used only as a "booster."

No disturbance was apparent at the prison, which was rocked by fires and riots last fall.

Eaves Solve Problem

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Eaves-dropping solved a knotty housemoving problem here. A four-unit apartment was being moved five miles. All went well until the 55-by-44-foot structure moved onto Loma Avenue. There it became a traffic block. The avenue is only 40 feet wide.

For two hours the crew tried to figure how to get moving. Then Foreman Cecil R. Martin had the eaves cut off — exactly two feet on each side — and got the house to its new lot.

Top Airlift Of Troopers Is Started

By VERN HAUGLAND
AP Aviation Reporter

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP)—A double-decker transport plane carrying 90 paratroopers roared off for Japan at 12:10 a.m. today to start history's most massive long-range airlift.

Other huge C-124 Globemasters of the 18th Air Force followed at two-hour intervals, with one carrying 23 newsmen and 67 paratroopers departing at 8 a.m.

Altogether 43 planes will take off from here in two days on the 18,000-mile mission of swapping two airborne combat teams between the United States and Japan.

The planes are taking almost 4,000 officers and men of the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team to Ashiya, Japan.

Within 60 hours of their arrival in Japan, the Cal24s will take off again to return the 3,100 troopers of the 187th Airborne Regimental Combat Team to Ft. Bragg, N.C.

The movement will total 31½ million passenger-miles, a new record.

Maj. Gen. Chester E. McCarthy of Portland, Ore., commander of the 18th Air Force, said the exchange is the largest and longest troop movement by air ever undertaken.

McCarthy commanded a Korean airlift for 2½ years, and had charge of the movement of 4,000 men from Japan to Korea in 17 hours to quell prisoner-of-war riots in 1952.

"But we are treating it as routine—an exercise demonstrating our capabilities of airlifting anything or anybody, anytime, anywhere," McCarthy told newsmen.

The airlift is coordinated with the shipboard movement of 433 families—about 1,300 women and children dependents of soldiers of the 508th.

The dependents will be greeted by their husbands and fathers upon arriving about 10 days hence.

McCarthy said the airlift is part of the new Army operation known as "gyroscopic," involving the replacement of entire overseas units every three years.

The first plane was commanded by 1st Lt. David Brazel, Carthage, N.Y.

Stops are scheduled at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., Hickam Field, Hawaii, and Wake Island.

Water Project Begun On Formosan Stream

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A 40 million dollar water project passed from the blueprint stage today with a groundbreaking ceremony for the Shihmen Reservoir 30 miles southwest of Taipei.

The project, which will take five years, will eliminate the almost annual blight of drought in northern Formosa.

It will irrigate 135,000 acres, generate about 120,000 kilowatts and help avert floods by lowering the Tansui River level by 3 to 6 feet. The Tansui flows through Taipei.

Police Seize Cash Pawner, Now What?

CHICAGO (AP)—A butcher who says for about three years he has been pawning money—and getting cash and pawn tickets—was seized by police yesterday.

But police say they don't know what to do about it.

Sgt. John Doyle of the Police pawn shop detail says that pawning money didn't seem to make sense. But, he added, there is no law against it.

The man Doyle arrested in a pawn shop, Joseph K. Johnson, 43, admitted pawning between $750 and $1,000 in the last three years, mostly in small amounts.

Doyle said Johnson told him he would pawn $30 for example, and receive $27.50 and a pawn ticket. He never went back to redeem the money.

"What's the idea," asked Doyle, who has been looking for the man who's been pawning money.

"What do you think?" Johnson asked in reply. "There's nothing illegal about it."

Doyle said he found seven serial numbers, clipped from currency, in Johnson's possession and decided he would turn him over to the Secret Service and have Johnson investigated for mutilation of currency.

The Secret Service said it wasn't interested after police said the currency from which the numbers presumably were cut was not found on Johnson.

Johnson declined to offer any explanation for pawning money or for cutting serial numbers. Asked about the serial numbers, he replied only, "So what?"

Doyle said Johnson told him he was a butcher and said he had served a prison sentence in Minnesota for forgery. He was held overnight without charge.

US Officials Confer With Chiang on Red Mainland Air Buildup

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Three top U.S. Air Force officers in the Pacific flew into Taipei today to confer on the buildup of Communist air power on the nearby Red mainland.

Simultaneously Chinese Nationalists said two Red air bases which would bring Formosa and offshore islands within easy striking distance of Communist jets were about completed.

The visiting officers are Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, commander of the Far East Air Force in Japan; Maj. Gen. Sory Smith, chief of the Pacific Air Command in Pearl Harbor, and Brig. Gen. William L. Lee, commander of the U.S. 13th Air Force in the Philippines.

In addition to the Red buildup, they will discuss operating problems of the U.S. air task force on Formosa. One possible result might be the rotation of additional U.S. Air Force squadrons on Formosa for training purposes.

Freighter Has Sealed Orders On Clay Cargo

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (AP)—A cargo of clay that sparked mob reaction into violence in a 15-month old Kohler Co. strike left last night aboard a foreign freighter sailing under sealed orders.

The M. S. Fossum is under the command of Capt. F. Svensen who told newsmen he sailed under "sealed orders." He said he did not know his destination. The ship is out of Skien, Norway.

Kohler Co. announced earlier it would not try to unload the vessel. Loss of the shipment, the company said, would not force it to close.

About 1000 persons watched the ship depart. The same dock 24 hours earlier was filled with a milling crowd estimated to include 1,000 persons at times. The mob beat up a nonstriking Kohler worker, broke windows in the home of another nonstriker and tipped over his car, threw rocks at an auto carrying a company official and damaged unloading equipment bound for the dock.

The plumbing ware firm, located in the nearby village of Kohler, has been the scene of a strike by local 833 of the UAW-CIO since April 5, 1954. Paramount issue is union security. A National Labor Relations Board hearing into unfair labor practice charges against the company is in recess until July 20.

The trouble broke out Tuesday when the Fossum, with clay consigned to Kohler from Fowley, England, docked and the firm tried to move a derrick alongside to unload it.

Report Red Forces Stationed In Siberia

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists' official Taitao news agency said today a division of crack Chinese Communist troops was transferred early in June to the Siberian port of Vladivostok, near the borders of Manchuria and Korea.

The agency, operated by the Interior Ministry and claiming underground contacts on the mainland, said the move was "apparently connected with some new intrigue by the Soviet Union and Red China."

Ike Is Ready To Arrange Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower was reported today to be willing to compromise on highway and housing legislation in an effort to get bills through Congress in its closing days.

A highly placed Republican was asked not to be named said the President has indicated he will settle for action in this session on five major bills: military reserve, atomic ship, foreign aid and some kind of housing and road-zoning measures.

The President was represented as giving high priorities in conferences with GOP leaders to school construction, minimum wage, pox vaccine and Upper Colorado development measures. But he apparently was not insisting on their consideration if that would delay adjournment unduly.

Eisenhower was said to have indicated he would be willing to accept a compromise highway bill which was self-financing. He proposed originally that a separate agency be set up to issue bonds, not chargeable to the federal debt, to finance the federal contribution to a 10-year interstate road building program.

The Senate rejected this plan in passing a bill by Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) which would sharply increase federal contributions on a crease federal contributions on all types of roads. These increases could be financed out of current appropriations but the Gore bill made no provision for boosting revenues.

mittie yesterday directed a nine-member subcommittee to draft a bill headed by Rep. Falon (E-Md.), who has proposed a one-cent-a-gallon increase in federal gasoline taxes and boost in some other levies to pay for expanded highway construction.

Gore also has suggested a one-cent rise in the gas tax as a means of raising money for stepped-in highway construction work.

Eisenhower recommended authority to construct 35,000 public two years. The Senate voted to make the figure 13,000 for four years. A bill jibing with Eisenhower's recommendations on this point as struck a snag in the House Rules Committee.

Rep. Christopher Asks Less Control In Conservation

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Missouri congressman expressed fear today the Agriculture Department has too restricted soil conservation programs with regulations that all money appropriated for such work will not be allocated to farmers.

Rep. Christopher (D-Mo.), a farmer formerly with the department's Soil Conservation Service, told a reporter he is writing Secretary Benson to urge more liberal regulations relating to such soil conservation practices as fertilizing and liming.

In addition, he said, the terracing program should be "speeded up" and the government should allow credit toward conservation payments for fertilizer used on small grain crops.

The budget request for the conservation program this year was 140 million dollars, he said, but Congress increased the amount to 250 million. The money would be used to match funds farmers spend for agricultural conservation practices.

"I fear Benson has so tied up the ACP payments with restrictions that the farmers will not avail themselves fully of the program even though the soil needs it badly," Christopher said.

Old North Church Top Is Restored Exactly As Original

BOSTON, Mass. (AP)—Old North Church, from whose steeple hung the lanterns warning Paul Revere of the approach of the British, has a new spire today—the exact reproduction of the original.

The new spire was raised yesterday. Hurricane Carol had toppled the earlier spire on Aug. 31, 1954.

The rebuilt structure has the original window from which hung the lanterns for Paul Revere on April 18, 1775. The window and other ancient woodwork were salvaged from the storm wreckage.

The assembled steeple was hoisted into place with a huge crane. As workmen bolted it down, Vicar Charles Russell Peck rang the church bells to announce the restoration.

Money for the restoration was raised through a nationwide appeal which brought in more than $150,000 in six months.

It Was Worth It—

Divorce May Bring Trouble But He Is Back In Service

QUANTICO, Va. (AP)—"Well, it was worth all the trouble to get back in the Marines even if it turns out I didn't have to do it," says the sergeant who got a very temporary divorce in the belief he needed it to re-enlist.

Walter Sheets, 24 and former sergeant, was working for the Portsmouth, Ohio, Times when the idea of going back in the service struck him. Some place — he was not sure today just where — he got the notion that his four dependents were one too many under re-enlistment rules.

So Sheets and his wife, Nancy Ann, 22, mother of his three children, cooked up a solution: Get a divorce and remarry after Walter was back in uniform.

Up to a certain point it all went as planned. A divorce decree was granted to Nancy Ann June 24 on cruelty grounds and Walter re-enlisted July 1.

He was sent to the Marine base here for assignment and examinations and Nancy Ann followed right along to stay temporarily with friends nearby.

"We were planning to be remarried next weekend," Sheets said, "but it was worth it," he said.

Similar to Korean Quandary—

Questions Right to Burden Vets With Reserve Success

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) today questioned the propriety of requiring veterans to continue to carry the chief burden under the administration's new military reserve plan.

Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said in a statement prepared for the opening of committee hearings on the bill which has been strongly urged by President Eisenhower:

"Our prior-service men find themselves right where they were at the time of Korea. (They are) the only men available in this great nation of ours to shoulder the heavy burden of an active combat-ready reserve."

Russell protested against terming the administration program a new approach to the problem, declaring that as has been the case in the past the reserve burden will fall on men who volunteered or were drafted for military duty.

He did not indicate he would oppose the bill, designed to increase the trained reserve to 2,900,000 men by 1960.

Russell contrasted the situation with that he said was contemplated when the Senate voted for universal military training four years ago, only to have it die in the House. The aim of that program, he said, was to build up a combat-ready reserve without calling on veterans of active duty.

He declared also that an erroneous impression has been created in the public mind that the nation's military reserve has been deteriorating, and that it has suddenly become dangerously weaker than at any time in our past history.

Actually, he said, the "nation's military reserve today is larger and more efficient than any time in our history."

Earlier, Rep. E. Keith Thomson (R-Wyo.) said he planned to urge the Senate committee to retain in the bill his amendment to require that a youth volunteering for a new special training program be at least 19 or a graduate of high school.

Thomson, a World War II veteran, said "The Pentagon is opposing this but I think they are wrong."

Things Will Never Be Same For Family With New Wealth

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—Things will never be quite the same again for the Ramon Angel family.

In the three weeks since Ramon, a Santa Fe street cleaner, won $25,000 in a national contest the fortunes of the family have changed radically and the fortune itself has dwindled to around $8,000.

Ramon's wife, Guadalupe, was stricken with a stomach ailment and operated on five days after a rubber company, B. F. Goodrich executive presented the family with $25,000 silver dollars.

She is just back from the hospital. Salesmen every day have offered everything from insurance to ranches to automobiles.

On the brighter side, Ramon was promoted by the city and now drives a steamroller. The family will soon move into a three-bedroom home near their adobe place. And there is a slick-looking new car.

The home, with five adjoining lots, took $8,000. Another $2,000 went for the car. Federal income tax took more than $6,500.

"We're not going to touch the rest," says Guadalupe. She said the only furniture she is going to buy is a living room suite.

Years of frugality can't be discarded overnight. Ramon figures the home is an investment, a saving on rent money, and, with the five adjoining lots, working out nicely for his five children. The car—well, it's a necessity as well as a little touch of luxury. The old 1942 model was always giving trouble anyway.

Most salesmen have gotten a cold shudder.

Mrs. Angel said the five little ones have gotten some new clothes all debts have been paid and there is a new "community" pogo stick, which the three older kids enjoy.

As soon as she is able, Mrs. Angel said she is going back to work at the moccasins shop where she worked before, stitching handmade moccasins.

"We never seemed to have enough before," she says "When we were always bills to pay and when we got a little ahead, something would come up. We've got a home and a new car and we've always wanted them. But it's so nice to have some money in the bank, so you don't have to worry, that we're just going to go back to our jobs and leave it in there."

Need New Program For Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secret testimony made public today said the Defense Department would face "a complete reprogramming" of arms aid to America's allies if old foreign aid appropriations were canceled.

A House Appropriations subcommittee heard the testimony June 23 from H. Struve Hensel, whose resignation as assistant secretary of defense became effective June 30.

It was made public in the midst of a controversy over the department's action in obligating $75 million dollars of arms aid funds on June 30, just before authority for spending most of that amount would have expired. Sens. Mansfield D-Mont accused the department yesterday of a "deliberate shortcut" of a congressional edict.

The newest development came as both houses of Congress prepared to take up for final action a compromise $3,285,800,000 foreign aid authorization bill for the year ending next June 30.

A Senate-House Conference Committee agreed yesterday on that figure, which fell below the $3,408,000,000 asked by President Eisenhower and approved by the Senate.

The committee accepted a $1,133,000,000 top limit voted by the House on arms aid, an amount 145 millions below Eisenhower's request.

It also accepted an additional $22 million dollars which the House had voted for defense support for Spain, but the final version did not earmark that amount for any country.

The authorization bill sets top figures. Actual funds still must be appropriated.

Hensel before the appropriations group urged restoration of the 145 million arms cut and elimination of a provision which would require the administration to turn back to the Treasury all money above 200 million dollars from previous appropriations which had not been obligated by last June 30.

Both houses approved the turn-back requirement.

Hensel said that provision would cut 420 million dollars from available funds.

The proposed cuts, he said, could cause "a great deal of difficulty . . . with our foreign policy."

Chessman Hears Of His Reprieve Over the Radio

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—Rapist-kidnaper Caryl Chessman first learned of his latest escape from the gas chamber through a newscast yesterday.

It was the book-writing rapist-kidnaper's sixth reprieve from a death sentence in the seven years he has been in San Quentin prison death row.

Chessman was reprieved by Justice Tom C. Clark until the Supreme Court can review his case. It doesn't meet until October.

Chessman was convicted in Los Angeles in 1946 of 17 charges: 4 kidnapping, 2 of sex perversion on his kidnaps victims, 8 of robbery and 1 each of attempted robbery, attempted criminal assault and auto theft.

He got his first inkling of Clark's reprieve when told reporters were seeking interviews.

"I didn't expect action until Friday," Chessman told reporters. "I was sure that action had come."

But what was the action?

"It was hell not to know . . . I put on my radio headset and then I heard the news . . ."

"It's come through, guys," I yelled to the others in death row. "They gave me a cheer."

Dr. Charles Still Dies After Long Struggle To Aid Osteopathy

Schoendienst And Finigan Are On All-Stars

Both Missouri Major Leagues Send Players

The polling of the correspondents and the public who choose the all-star teams of major league baseball is complete and the teams with the exception of the pitchers have been announced.

Both Missouri major league squads have been very well represented.

In the American League (team's members appear today) the Kansas City Athletics have sent Jim Finigan, the "A" right fielder, who has been along the top in the polling since it began.

Finigan is a favorite in Missouri due to his start in baseball which came in this state. He started with a Joplin, Mo., club in 1948 and then the same year entered the K-O-M league with a team from Independence.

Finigan was first assigned with the New York Yankees, but was later traded to the Philadelphia Athletics and then returned to Missouri soil when the "A" team was brought to Kansas City.

In the National League the St. Louis Cardinals have sent "Red" Schoendienst, the club second sacker to the all-stars. "Red" along with teammate Stan Musial has become an integral part of the St. Louis club and needs no introduction to Missouri fans.

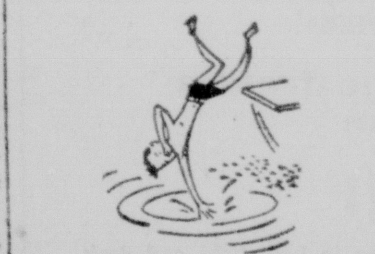

Musial, who has been a member of the all-star team for several years, was high up in the running for a berth on the team this year but fans figure him good for several more seasons even though he failed to get the nod this time.

The Missouri fans, of course, feel that there could have been several more players from Missouri teams placed on the teams, but feel confident that the state will be well represented by the two who have been chosen.

A Week In the Water

The big July 4th Swim Meet at Hubbard Park provided plenty of thrills for the fans and swimmers as a large turn out cheered on the novelty and competitive acts.

Most of the events were taken by members of the Hubbard swim club and most of the team contests were also copied by the club. But several of the affairs were taken by members of the SAFB Swim Club. The water carnival was a big success with a great amount of sportsmanship shown between the local club and those entered from other places.

The Houstonia youth, Johnny Fluty, who was injured at the Liberty Park swimming pool last week, was reported to have received serious injuries when a life guard at the pool fell on him as he tried to reach an umbrella which was blowing away and lost his balance.

The injuries were reported as a fractured vertebrae and it was possible that Johnny would be hospitalized for six weeks.

The swimming pool at Liberty Park opened at an early hour on Monday morning in order to give holiday swimmers a chance for a swim at any time during the day. The turn out for Monday was estimated at 700, which was not even close to the turn out of 1,100 for Sunday. This was one of the largest crowds of past seasons and was the largest recorded for this season.

Jaycees and Hornets Take Industrial Wins

In the first game of the Industrial League Wednesday night the Jaycees tangled for 11 innings with the National Engineers before taking a 2-1 victory on a homer by Russ Gilmore in the last of the frame.

Lyles was the winner with Norfield taking the loss for the Engineers in a real pitcher's duel.

The Hudson Hornets and the DeMolays started out with a close game in the second tilt of the evening, but wound up with a definite 14-4 decision for the Hornets.

The game was tight until the fourth when the Hornets scored six runs and then followed in the fifth frame with six more.

Phillips hurled a two-hitter for the Hornets, while the DeMolay team used Redmond and Yoeman.

The leading batters for the Hornets were G. Kindle with three for four including a homer, triple and double, and Reavis who had three singles for three times at the plate. Brownfield had two doubles in two trips.

Tonight at 7:30 p.m. the Hamms' Beer club will take the field against Deaver's Devils and at 9 p.m. the Moose club will face the Knights of Columbus.

Pop Goes The Gravel
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Pop corn gravel delayed the paving of a section of the northern Indiana East-West toll road. The gravel contained particles with a shell surrounding a hard center. Moisture seeping through the shell caused the particles to explode like pop corn.

The construction firm had to get the gravel from another company.

Veterans Win For Orioles Despite Youthful Bench

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Manager Paul Richards may have a sound idea for the future with his youth movement at Baltimore, but when it comes to winning here and now it's the old guys who get the job done for the Orioles.

With a flock of recently signed bonus youngsters on the roster, it was veterans like Jim Wilson (33), Freddy Marsh (31), Chuck Diering (32) and Hank Majeski (38) who were in the lineup as the Orioles posted the New York Yankees 4-0 last night.

The victory didn't mean too much to Baltimore, down in the basement 27½ games out of first, but it pared the Yanks' American league lead to 4½ games over Cleveland's Indians, who beat Kansas City 8-4.

Wilson, the crafty "old timer" who sent New York to its fourth straight defeat. The big righthander, in his ninth big league season, gave the Yanks just four hits and didn't let a runner get past first base.

Wilson, too, lined a two-run single as the Orioles scored all their runs in the fourth inning off Whitey Ford, who like Wilson is on the All-Star pitching staff. It was Ford's fourth defeat.

It was the second shutout of the year for Wilson, who had a no-hit game with Milwaukee last season, and it gave the Orioles two straight victories after losing 12 in a row.

Boston moved up on the third-place Chicago White Sox. The Red Sox beat Washington 7-5 after Detroit had knocked off Chicago 5-3. That left Boston 1½ games behind Chicago.

In the National, Brooklyn split with Pittsburgh, winning 10-5 and losing 4-1 in a two-nighter; Milwaukee snared Chicago 5-1; New York beat Philadelphia 4-2, and St. Louis defeated Cincinnati 6-4.

Cleveland tumbled the A's, who had won 10 of 12, as Bobby Avila doubled across two runs and Ralph Kiner homered for two more in a six-run eighth. Herb Score won in relief while Tom Gorman of the A's suffered one of his infrequent failures for the defeat.

Ted Williams (who else?) kept the Red Sox rolling, hitting his 11th homer, a double and a single to raise his batting average to .402 as Boston made it six straight. Ted's homer, good for two runs, produced a 5-4 lead in the fifth. The second game of the scheduled two-nighter was rained out and rescheduled for tonight.

Pittsburgh had three consecutive homers by Jerry Lynch, Frank Thomas and Dale Long—tying a major league mark held by many clubs—off Carl Erskine while losing the opener. In the nightcap, Vern Law fanned 10 and chipped in a run-scoring double as the Bucs scored three in the eighth off reliever Ed Roebuck, who had preserved Erskine's ninth victory in the first game.

Last place Pittsburgh now has clipped Brooklyn's league leaders more times than any other club—winning six of 15.

Little LEAGUERS

In the first game of the Little League play Wednesday night the Elks took a 12-1, seven-hit victory over the Jaycees, who made three hits in the game.

The Elks started off with a one run lead in the first after holding the Jaycees scoreless in the last of that frame and then repeated this inning's results in the second and third to lead 3-0.

The fourth frame brought the Elks three more tallies as they still refused to let a Jaycee cross the plate.

The fifth and final frame gave six more tallies to the winners and the lone Jaycee run came in the last of the inning as a rally faded away almost before it got started.

Carson was the winning hurler and Barr the loser.

In the second game Rotary took a 7-3 drubbing at the hands of the Kiwanis club.

Both teams crossed runs over the plate in the first frame to lead off with a 1-1 tie. The game was broken open for good in the second, however, as the Kiwanians took one run while holding the Rotarians scoreless. It was two in the third, one in the fourth and two more in the fifth for the winners as the Rotarians just could not reach home plate.

In the sixth frame, however, the first scoreless inning for the Kiwanians occurred and the Rotarians took two in their half in an attempted rally.

The winning pitcher was Cole and Nichols was the loser.

NCAA Restricts Football Games Fall Telecasts

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. has tacked a couple of "ifs" on its approval of regional telecasts of football games in two different NCAA districts this fall.

Overriding all other considerations are these two restrictions: 1. That no damage is done to any other institution's attendance in the district.

2. It doesn't interfere with other TV plans in the area.

With those reservations, the NCAA Television Committee's administrative subcommittee said last night the regional games may be televised in both the conference-originating district and the home city of a participating team.

With the same restrictions, the game may be televised also in the entire home state of a participating team.

Dick Romney, Skyline Conference commissioner and chairman of the subcommittee, said his group "is aware the plans haven't been determined in all of the districts as far as regional TV schedules are concerned and therefore further consideration may be in order."

League President Warren Giles yesterday fined Tebbetts and Walker $100 each and Sarni $25 for their parts in a free-for-all fight in the ninth inning of a game between the two clubs here Tuesday night.

The brawl started between the two managers and then most of the players took a hand.

Tebbetts and Walker shook hands for photographers before last night's game and there were no signs of any further ill feeling.

In announcing the fines, Giles said, "managers have an obligation to preserve or restore order and, not by their own actions, to incite disorder." Sarni was fined for failure to heed Umpire Jocko Conlan's order to return to his position and resume play.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Harold Johnson, long time No. 1 contender for light heavyweight champion Archie Moore's boxing crown, was suspended for six months last night by the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission.

The commission, releasing its findings on a lengthy probe of Johnson's May 6 nationally televised bout with Julio Mederos, said Johnson acted "against the best interests of boxing" by failing to report prior to the fight that he was ill.

Sports Roundup—Preacher Roe Is Criticized For Using The 'Spit Ball'

NEW YORK. (AP) — Elwin (Preacher) Roe, the drawing humorist from Ash Flat, Arkansas, is being drummed out of the lodge for having owned up in black and white that he employed the spitball as a regular stock in trade during those great seasons he had with the Brooklyn Dodgers toward the end of his career.

Baseball men — even those who were victimized by the Preacher's outlaw pitch — feel that the veteran spoke out of turn and say they would not have violated such a sacred pledge for the $2,000 that Roe is said to have received. Leo Durocher, for example, accuses Preacher of selling out for "30 pieces of silver." Those are strong words even if Leo's figures are not accurate.

Baseball writers, many of whom knew all along that Roe was dipping into the old saliva, are aggrieved that they permitted themselves to be scooped. There is a sort of unwritten law within the profession that certain things, such as a player's drinking habits and cheating on the field, are not discussed in print. A colleague says that now he will never give the Preacher his vote for baseball's Hall of Fame.

The whole thing is more silly than anything else, and we can imagine that Roe, who has a highly developed sense of humor, is getting many a chuckle out of the storm he kicked up. Some good may come of it, though, if the end result is that the diamond magnates become realistic and lift the 35-year ban on the spitter.

There is no reason in the world now that they should not. The pitch was banished at a time when the owners were just beginning to realize that the home run and lots of hitting drew crowds. They decided to make it a hitter's game. First they hamstringed the pitchers by every means they could think of, and then they introduced the rabbit ball.

Now, if we can read the signs correctly, the fans' taste has gone full cycle. The high-scoring game has lost its fascination and nothing comes nearer packing a park than the prospect of a duel between a pair of shutout artists. A great many persons, including Commissioner Ford Frick, feel that anything which might be done to help the pitchers and cut down the flow of mound replacements would be a godsend.

The old charge that the spitball was "unsanitary" was only the owners' excuse for banning a pitch the hitters disliked. Former spitball artists such as Burleigh Grimes and Frank Shellenback will defy you to explain, or to have a sanitation expert explain, how the throw could possibly be a health hazard, and to whom. By the time the whizzing ball ends its flight, they say, the moisture it started out with has disappeared almost entirely. Anyway, if the catcher doesn't complain, who else has reason to?

Popular Play Not Easy For Movie Version

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How can they make "Tea and Sympathy" into a movie and get it past the censors?

That question has been raised ever since MGM bought the prize-winning play for films. One of those who feels it can be done is Deborah Kerr, who starred in the play on Broadway and the road and who will repeat her role in the movie.

"Tea and Sympathy" deals frankly with a prep school boy who is accused by his fellow students of being a homosexual. His champion is a teacher's wife who feels he is being unjustly accused. When everyone else has deserted him, she helps prove his manhood in a final scene that is a shocker.

A high official of the production code office, which censors all Hollywood films, remarked recently that "Tea and Sympathy" could never be passed on its basic theme. The code forbids even the implication of homosexuality.

Miss Kerr feels that the film can be made and without sacrificing the values of the play.

"I don't want to give any secrets away," she remarked. "But I had a talk with Robert Anderson, who wrote the play and is now working on the movie script. He feels that it can be done."

"After all, the play is not about homosexuality. It is a story that shows that we must give more than tea and sympathy to our fellow human beings. Its theme is the persecution of an individual."

"I think another kind of persecution can be substituted, and the other elements of the theme can be implied. The story can still be touching and moving—if the persecution is strong and convincing enough."

But what about the final scene, in which the woman surrenders herself to the boy?

"That must be included, because it is very important to the story," she declared. "But it can be done much more subtly on the screen. Naturally, the film version will not have the shock value that the play did. But then, the movies are a different medium."

Davy Crockett Takes Punch From Writers

NEW YORK (AP)—Two separate raiding parties scalped Davy Crockett the other day.

First into the clearing whooped Murray Kempton, a writer for the New York Post. He said that Crockett was a lazy, hooky-playing, whisky-swilling, illiterate braggart with an ignoble record as soldier, provider and congressman. His whoops had barely died when in looped the Personal & Otherwise Department of Harper's magazine. Slicing deftly and quickly, Harper's got the rest of Crockett's scalp.

As a result, a mother in our neighborhood, whose coonskin-capped offspring have been raising Cain in our petunias, is irked. "Won't they leave kids any idols?" she demands.

Well, now, when Crockett first hove on the television scene as a model for youth I confess I was a little surprised at the choice. I thought there were more important and exciting men who could more accurately bear the tag of "frontiersmen." There was Dan Morgan and old Dan'l Boone; Kit Carson and at least a dozen Mountain Men, to name only a few. But we got Crockett on our screens.

I haven't raided the files as extensively as Kempton and Harper's. But I do recall sardonic remarks about Crockett by such reputable historians as Vernon L. Parrington. In short, I string along with the raiders and believe they came up with the "true" Davy Crockett story.

As far as the youngest generation is concerned, however, I don't think the raiders even came close to their coonskin idol. The minds that absorb Crockett are closed to Kempton and Harper's. On the other hand, the raiders performed a useful journalistic service by examining a myth. For the Davy Crockett story is the first American myth which the young giant of television has perpetuated successfully.

But I suppose it doesn't matter whether the real Davy was heel or hero. What matters at the moment is that the televised Davy be one of nature's noblemen who will inspire malleable young minds to go out and be likewise.

The moral implicit in the Crockett story to me is simply this: Television has unwittingly stumbled on a tremendous capacity—a great power to perpetuate myths. May it always use its power wisely.

Sauerkraut
With the gardens producing an abundance of all vegetables, I am sure many are planning to or have made kraut.

I do want to explain the difference between sauerkraut and soured cabbage.

Sauerkraut is made from chopped cabbage fermented in a brine of its own juice and salt. The liquid is called lactic acid.

Chopped cabbage packed in a fruit jar and covered with hot water does not produce the brine which ferments the cabbage into sauerkraut. It produces a soured cabbage.

How to Make Sauerkraut
Select only mature, firm, sound heads of cabbage. After removing all decayed or dirty leaves, quarter the heads slice off the core portion, and weigh. Shred the cabbage fine, about 1 1/2 of an inch or not more than the thickness of a dime. Weigh out one pound of salt for every 40 pounds of cabbage. The and Kenny Craig of Ionia were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gardner Sunday.

Mrs. Glen Sampson of Windsor was visiting with friends in Ionia on Friday.

salt may be distributed as the cabbage is packed into a stone jar or it may be mixed with the shredded cabbage before being packed. Mixing two ounces (3 1/2 tablespoons) of salt with every five pounds of cabbage is the best way to get an even distribution of salt.

Pack the cabbage firmly, but not too tightly in stone jars of suitable size. When filled to within two inches of the top, cover with a clean cloth and a board or a plate. On the cover place a weight heavy enough to cause the brine to just come up to the cover and keep the cloth wet. Keep in a cool place until fermentation is complete and the kraut is made.

The best quality kraut is produced when the temperature is kept below 60 degrees F. It will require a month or more for kraut to cure properly at this temperature. It will cure in about ten days if kept at a temperature around 68 degrees F., but a less desirable texture results and more spoilage is likely to occur at the higher temperature.

If a scum forms on the surface of the brine, skim it off immediately as this scum tends to destroy the acidity and gives a less desirable flavor and texture to the kraut. Wash and scald the cloth as often as necessary to keep the kraut free of mold and scum.

After the kraut is made, store it in a cool place after sealing it by one of the two following methods: (1) Pour a layer of hot paraffin over surface making sure that the jar is sealed. (2) Take the kraut from the jar, heat to a simmer (160 degrees F.), pack tightly in clean, hot jars, adding enough of the "kraut juice," or a weak brine made by adding an ounce of salt to a quart of water to cover the kraut and fill jars to a half-inch from the top, partially seal, process five minutes in a water bath, remove immediately from water bath, seal, cool, and store as other canned food.

Sauerkraut is a fairly good source of minerals, especially calcium, and if properly made and rightly prepared for table use, contains about the same amount of vitamin C as new cabbage, cooked three to five minutes. It adds bulk to the diet and is a laxative food. It's tart, crisp flavor is very acceptable with pork. Sauerkraut cooked with sausage, ham, roast pork is as pleasing as the traditional sauerkraut and wieners or sauerkraut and spare-ribs.

Do You Get Enough Milk?
Missouri homemakers are concerned that their families get enough milk to supply the calcium and other nutrients needed for good nutrition. That's why members of home economics extension clubs throughout the state have made a special effort to serve meals which contained milk and milk products.

It is recommended that children have from three to four cups of milk daily; adults two or more cups. Adolescents require even more milk than children to meet body needs for growth and development. Pregnant women and nursing mothers have the highest requirements of all groups.

Recently a survey was made here in Pettis County to find out how milk is being used in the extension club family meals.

The survey shows that our children are on the average getting only 2 1/2 cups daily, adolescents 3 1/2 cups and adults only 1 1/2 cups. This certainly is not meeting their

Steve Allen Back Where He Got Start

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Having made his name in the big city, Steve Allen is back in Hollywood to collect his rewards.

Five years ago, the bespectacled wit was operating a midnight radio show here. It attracted a large following among the night owls, but was not what show business people call the Big Time.

He also dabbled in the movies, but on a small scale. He played a disc jockey in a June Haver-Gloria DeHaven musical, "I'll get by." And he starred in an amalgamation of clips from old Mack Sennett films called "Down Memory Lane"—"It's playing a lot on TV now, unfortunately," he says.

At that time Allen wanted to try his hand at network TV. But the coaxial cable hadn't yet wormed its way to California. So he headed for New York. After a slow start in the new medium, he made his mark as a bright panelist and as the sly, deadpan proprietor of NBC's late-hour Tonight show.

Allen returned to California for one of the prior film roles of the year. He's playing the King of Swing in Universal-International's "The Benny Goodman Story."

He paused between rehearsals for a spectacular and tests for the movie to discuss his multiple career. Besides the film and all his TV work, he writes songs, plays piano and sings on records, writes short stories and articles and may needs. Of these extension club families 80 per cent used milk regularly, while 20 per cent rarely used milk. Are you and your family among this group that does not get the adequate amount of milk each day?

Demonstrations Made At Three Corners Meet

Two demonstration were given at the Three Corners 4-H Club meeting June 24, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wasson. Carol Johnson gave a demonstration on making French dressing and Diana Brown demonstrated the use of good tools for baking.

The roll call was answered with "My new grooming habit."

There were ten members and three visitors present.

The next meeting will be at the home of Robert Embree at 8 p. m. July 22.

Few Flatfeet

YOUNGSTOWN, O. (AP)—Youngstown policemen have better feet than most people, a study by the Mahoning Valley Chiropractic Society shows. It found 68 per cent had some kind of foot ailment, but added that 80 per cent of American adults have foot trouble. There's a smaller percentage of flat feet among policemen than in most American males, say the chiropractists.

even do atomic research, for all anyone knows.

Does he worry about spreading himself too thin?

"No, that doesn't concern me. When I was starting out, people told me I shouldn't waste time writing songs; I should concentrate on a few things. But I like writing songs. I like doing a variety of things.

"And it's easy to get by when you've made your name in another field. For instance, Milton Berle doesn't have to write the greatest song in the world, the way a beginner would have to. Lately I've been doing some singing. I don't have to do a great singing job, as an unknown would have to."

A Dish Fit to Please a King's Favor

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Cook a Spanish paella! That's what our family and friends encourage us to do. For it we put chicken, rice, shrimp and clams together and we throw in a can of chick peas—maybe you call them garbanzos. Cooked green peas go along, too. Everyone beams with satisfaction after dining on this delightful and hearty combination of flavors.

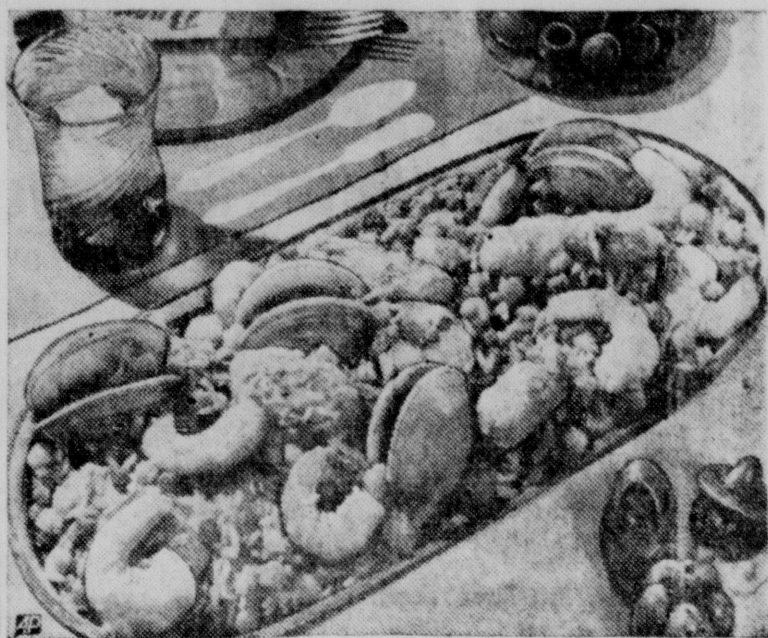

Of course seasonings are also added. Green peppers, onions, garlic, saffron, pure monosodium glutamate. Our first acquaintance with monosodium glutamate—a vegetable protein derivative—was during the war when some Nisei from San Francisco, then living in New York, taught us how to use it in Japanese dishes. Since then we've noticed how often it appears in canned foods; it is plentifully present, for instance, in our favorite brand of ready-prepared clear chicken soup.

Our paella is definitely for company because it takes a certain amount of doing. You have to cook the shrimp, chicken, rice and vegetables separately, then put them together in one very large or two medium-sized casseroles. The dish was originally concocted, we have read, for a King's Favorite—the word paella reported to be a contraction of para ella, meaning "for her."

As a first course for a paella supper, we might serve sliced melon and wedges of lemon. After the main dish we like a crisp salad of romaine and cucumbers dressed with olive oil, wine vinegar, prepared mustard, salt and freshly ground pepper; and we add taragon, too, if that enticing herb is available. For dessert, caramel custard is traditional and good. Though recently, after paella, we served a fresh blueberry upside-down cake that our eaters thought was just right.

COMPANY PAELLA

Ingredients: 1 frying chicken (about 2½ pounds ready-to-cook weight), ¼ cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons olive oil, 2 tablespoons peanut oil, water, 4 medium-sized (¾ pound) onions (finely chopped), 2 green peppers (finely chopped), 2 cloves garlic (crushed), 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 cup converted-type rice, ¼ teaspoon coarsely crushed Spanish thread saffron, 1¼ cups clear rich homemade chicken stock, 1 teaspoon pure monosodium glutamate, 1 can (1 pound) chick peas, one 10-ounce package frozen green peas

PAELLA—King's favorite for your favorite company.

(cooked and drained), 1 pound shrimp (cooked and shelled and deveined), 12 cherrystone clams.

Method: Have chicken cut so there are 2 pieces of breast, 2 wings, 2 legs, 2 second joints, 2 bony back pieces; wash and drain but do not dry. Mix flour with salt and pepper; rub into chicken pieces. Heat the olive oil and peanut oil in a 12-inch skillet; brown chicken pieces thoroughly; add ¼ cup water; cover and cook quickly, turning as necessary, until tender—about 20 minutes. Remove chicken. To drippings in pan add chopped onion, green pepper and crushed garlic; cook over low heat until wilted, stirring at first with wooden spoon to get up browned particles; pan may be covered if desired. (If there is not at least 2 tablespoons of drippings left in the skillet in which to cook onions and green pepper, add enough oil to make that amount.) In a 1-quart saucepan, melt butter; add unwashed rice and saffron; stir over low heat a few minutes. Add enough water to homemade chicken stock to make 2¼ cups; stir in monosodium glutamate; add to rice. Bring to boil; cook, covered, over low heat until rice is tender and liquid absorbed. Stir rice, chick peas and cooked green peas into onion mixture in skillet. Layer with chicken, shrimp and clams in a shallow casserole (about 4 quarts) or two shallow casseroles (each about 2 quarts). Reserve a few clams for top. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 15 minutes—just until clams open. Do not over-bake or clams will be tough; if some of clams do not open, pry them free with a heavy knife. Serve at once. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Special Directions: Before using clams, soak them in ice-cold salted water 1 hour; scrub shells with stiff brush; rinse under cold running water; refrigerate until used. Cook peas according to package directions; liquid drained from peas may be substituted for part of water added to chicken stock. One 10½-ounce can of clear chicken broth may be substituted for the 1¼ cups homemade chicken stock called for; if this is done and there is fat on canned broth, remove it before using. To cook shrimp, cover with 2 cups water and ¼ teaspoon salt; cook over high heat until almost boiling; simmer 3 to 5 minutes; drain, shell and devein.

A recent study indicated that most Indiana farmers do not cultivate a crop of corn more than twice, some of them only once.

Weekly Insect Report—

Hoppers Still Serious Threat, Showing Heavy Damage

By Stirling Kyd
Extension Entomologist
and George W. Thomas
Survey Entomologist

GRASSHOPPERS—Hoppers still are the most serious threat to the entire state. Numbers continue exceptionally high, and heavy damage is beginning to show up in several sections of the state.

So far, weather conditions have killed very few hoppers. Fungus disease is still being found only rarely and as yet, has not been an important factor. If we should have a prolonged period of high temperatures with high humidity, fungus could help, but such conditions would be rather unusual for this time of year.

Alfalfa and clovers are taking the worst beating at the present time, and row crops in the southern part of the state are close seconds. Throughout the entire state, nearly every unsprayed alfalfa field is loaded with hoppers, and as soon as they get more size in north Missouri row crop damage will also become heavy.

CHINCH BUGS—There aren't nearly as many chinch bugs over the state as we might have had, since our winter carry-over was exceptionally heavy. Apparently, rains have helped in knocking their numbers down. Some fields, however, are heavily infested. Such fields are widely scattered, and as yet, we have found no community where infestations are uniformly heavy.

There are several things to keep in mind when fields need to be sprayed. Our recommendations this year call for dieldrin at 8 ounces per acre. If the spray is put on by air, fly the field both ways (north-south, and also east-west) using four ounces per acre each direction. If ground rigs are used, on corn above 6 inches tall, plug the nozzles above the row, and use two-nozzle drops between the rows. Direct the nozzles so that the spray hits the corn from the groundline up as far as the spray cone will extend. Do not expect to wipe out the chinch bugs within a few hours after spraying. In fact, don't judge whether or not the spraying was a success until 72 hours after spraying. Do not try to mix the insecticide with a weed killer and spray for chinch bugs and weeds at the same time. The insecticide must go on the corn, the weed killer must go on the weeds. You can't mix the two and get both chemicals where they belong.

WIREWORMS—We are noticing a lot of corn fields with spotty stands. In closely checking many of such fields, it looks as though several different soil insects—seed corn maggots, seed corn beetles, wireworms, etc.—have been primarily responsible for the skips in stand.

Of course it's too late to do anything about it now, but a soil insecticide used before the field was planted would have prevented this damage.

WEBWORMS—We have been finding a few webworms scattered around. In general, only a few individuals are being found in any field, but we have a report from Bates County that some corn fields there are rather heavily infested. Damage to corn begins on the lower leaves, and progresses up the stalk.

Be on the watch for these insects in alfalfa. So far we have not found them numerous enough to hurt, but they could show up at any time.

In corn, toxaphene at 2 pounds per acre will give good control. In alfalfa, if the hay is within two weeks of cutting, go on and cut. If more than two weeks away, use 1½ pounds of DDT per acre.

Toxaphene should not be used within about 4 weeks of cutting, thus preventing an infestation from getting started.

MIXING 2,4-D AND INSECTICIDES—We have had a lot of questions about mixing insecticides with 2,4-D when spraying corn. This has already been mentioned under chinch bugs, and the same thing applies when spraying corn for grasshoppers with ground equipment. The chemicals are compatible, however, and a mixture can be used in spraying out fence rows.

GRASSHOPPER CONTROL IN THE GARDEN—Caution folks against spraying vegetables with the insecticides normally recommended for grasshopper control. These insecticides are too potent to be put on edible portions of vegetables. It is true that baits are definitely second best in killing hoppers, but they are all that can be used safely inside the garden. Be sure that the areas around the garden—those places where soil insecticides will kill the ants, thus preventing an infestation from getting started.

Rescuer Rescued

SEDFORD, Va. (AP)—Jones H. Williams, 75, served many years with the Coast Guard and participated in many rescues along North Carolina's wind-swept coast.

Then Williams broke a shoulder on the outer banks near Ocracoke. A coast guard helicopter—Williams served before the whirly birds came—quickly delivered the injured man to the hospital. CG men at the controls, of course.

ICE CREAM SANDWICHES—Small fry go for these.

Ice Cream Sandwiches Go Over Big For the Small Fry

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Make ice cream sandwiches at home for small fry. They'll love you dearly for this treat! Nutritious cookies made with rolled oats and flavored with chocolate can be prepared ahead, then sandwiched with slices of ice cream just before serving.

CHOCOLATE ICE CREAM SANDWICHES

Ingredients: 1½ cups sifted flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup sugar, ¾ cup shortening (soft), 2 ounces (2 squares) unsweetened chocolate (melted), 1 egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1½ cups uncooked rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned), prepackaged ice cream.

Method: Sift together the flour, salt and sugar. Add shortening, melted chocolate, egg and vanilla; mix together until smooth. (Dough will be quite stiff.) Mix in rolled oats. Roll out between two sheets of waxed paper to ¼-inch thickness. Cut into rectangles 2½ by 3 inches. For a decorative edge, use a pastry wheel for cutting. Place on greased cookie sheets 1 inch apart. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 8 to 10 minutes. Cool a few seconds before removing from cookie sheets; remove to racks with spatula and cool thoroughly. To make ice cream sandwiches, place a slice of ice cream between each two cookies and serve at once. Amount of ice cream needed will depend on how many sandwiches are to be served. Store remaining cookies in tightly covered container to be served plain. Recipe makes 3 dozen cookies.

GOOD COOK'S TRICK

Best way to remove the shell from a hard-cooked egg is to crackle the shell all over. Then roll the egg between the palms of your hands to loosen the shell. Start the peeling process at the large end of the egg. Dip the egg in water a couple of times as you peel to help ease the shell off.

CROQUETTE KNOW-HOW

When you are deep-fat frying croquettes, it is best to turn them only once in the fat as they cook. Allow about two-thirds of the cooking time for one side, about one-third of the cooking time for the other. Use leftover chicken, turkey or beef for the croquettes, adding the amount called for in a standard recipe.

A Ruling On Fluoridation...

Recollection of informal talks and discussions the past year in Sedalia concerning fluoridation of our water supply is given heightened interest by Ohio Supreme Court ruling the injection of fluoride into public drinking water is not an infringement of constitutional liberties.

That it was an infringement formed the basis for one of the arguments often mentioned—that the prevention or treatment of disease of the teeth is not a valid exercise of the power of a municipality and that fluoridation is an invasion of constitutional rights of a citizen.

The Ohio court's ruling may not be the end of the matter but it is interesting to note judges held that personal liberties granted by the constitution are subject to reasonable regulations imposed in the interest of the community; that tooth decay is a disease so common and so widespread it is a proper subject for the city to act upon.

Up to now Sedalians have shown no mass enthusiasm for fluoridation and probably won't until better informed about the subject. Members of the dental profession, however, have been advocating it in talks before service clubs and group meetings periodically. Public interest has not been aroused to indicate a petition to city council may materialize in the near future.

Nevertheless, fluoridation is a subject being given considerable attention in many cities and may yet reach the point, where Sedalians will be called upon to decide for or against a method which is said to retard or prevent tooth decay among children, at least.

The Ohio Supreme Court ruling is one step against oppositionists in that a municipality is privileged to exercise reasonable regulations on subjects related to the public health—and the exponents of fluoridation say retardation of tooth decay is a health matter.

Drew Pearson Says—

Sen. Welker Makes Payroll Changes

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Here's another episode in the payroll generosity of Idaho's bouncing junior senator, Herman Welker. This chapter might be called, "The Case of the Yellow Shoes."

This column has already reported how Herman arranged for his brother, Ted, to lead the cushy life of a retired truck driver in Twin Falls Idaho, at the taxpayers' expense. The Senator simply put brother Ted on the Senate payroll for $5,200 a year. Meanwhile Ted remains in Idaho, doing no visible work for the taxpayer, though a senator's payroll is supposed to be spent for the benefit of the constituents who send the senator to Washington.

Herman also helped his nephew, Craig Nelson, and a family friend, William Cook, "work" their way through the University of Idaho by paying them a Senate salary for part of the college year. The Senator has hinted mysteriously that the two boys were investigating Communists on the University campus for him.

In addition to all this, Senate pay vouchers also reveal that Welker kept an ex-employee, Marion "Pete" Jensen, on the payroll for a year after he had returned to Preston, Idaho, to teach high school. It is unknown whether Welker was looking for Communists in the Preston High School.

Welker and Jensen served together in the Idaho State Senate, then came to Washington together after Welker's election to the United States Senate. Both showed up on the Washington social scene wearing almost identical yellow shoes.

Herman noticed nobody else in the Senate wore loud yellow shoes, so he switched to a more conservative color. "Pete" Jensen, however, who then worked as Welker's administrative assistant, refused to part with his yellow brogans. He liked yellow. But one day Jensen walked on the Senate floor to deliver some papers to Welker. All Herman could see were the yellow shoes moving across the carpet—plump, squeak, plump. Turning to an aide, Herman grumbled: "That so-and-so has worn those yellow shoes on the Senate floor for the last time."

Firing Jensen, however, was a ticklish job, since he has political influence in southern Idaho. To soften the blow, Welker put out a weepy press release about "losing my good right arm." He also did something more tangible: He kept Jensen on the payroll for a full year, even though Jensen packed his yellow shoes and went back to his former job as high school teacher in Preston.

Idaho Republicans will be surprised at another name on Welker's Senate payroll—Harry A. Nock, a prominent Idaho Democrat. Welker and Nock also served in the Idaho State Senate together, though Nock never bothered to go back to Washington to work for Welker. Nock was carried on the Senate payroll from Nov. 23, 1953, until recently.

All this may explain why Welker has a reputation for generosity with the taxpayers' money.

U Nu Comes to Congress

One Washingtonian who impressed Prime Minister U Nu of Burma during his visit to Washington was William "Fishbait" Miller, doorkeeper of the House of Representatives and chief greeter of foreign notables on Capitol Hill.

After Miller had introduced U Nu to all House members waiting to shake his hand, without forgetting a single name, the Burmese official inquired dubiously.

Guest Editorial—

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) JOURNAL: IOWA DROPS COMMERCIALS. For 16 years now our license plates have been plugging Wisconsin as "America's Dairyland." We Badgers have just reason to boast, no doubt about it. And we're not very different in using the fore and aft plates on our limousines and jalopies as miniature billboards. Fully half the states of the Union use auto licenses in similar fashion.

But we note with interest and admiration that neighboring Iowa is quitting the practice. On its 1956 plates, soon to go into production, Iowa will no longer be "The Corn State."

Governor Hoegh, it seems, has his doubts about the strict legality of slogans. He thinks the space can be better used for larger numbers. Besides, he doesn't seem to like the "corny" slogan.

So a round of applause for Governor Hoegh. He has cut down the corn to let the license numbers grow tall.

The World Today—

Psychologists Have Fun Analyzing Kremlin

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The psychologists can have a field day analyzing the Kremlin mind after the 4th of July speech by Nikita S. Khrushchev, boss of the Russian Communist party.

And President Eisenhower, it seems, will have a double job on his hands when he goes to Geneva July 18 to negotiate about peace with the Russians. He knew he was going to negotiate.

But now he may even have to build up the Russians' self-confidence beforehand so they'll feel comfortable and be willing to negotiate when he meets them. He's already taken a step in that direction.

Khrushchev, holding a highball glass at a party at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow three days ago, made himself and his Kremlin friends sound self-conscious and troubled by a feeling of inferiority. Khrushchev, considered by many to be the real boss of Russia, told Americans he wanted to make a speech. He said if the Western powers treat the Russians as equals at Geneva "something may come of it."

It probably never has occurred to people in the West to look down their nose at the Russians, who have the largest land army in the world, have made astonishing progress with the atom bomb and are probably ahead of the United States in production of some jet planes.

The West's trouble with them has never been over their ability or intelligence but solely over their intentions and tactics.

But even as he indicated the Russians feared they might be treated as inferiors, Khrushchev became more self-defensive. He gave an impression of worry that the Americans might not believe he spoke for the Kremlin.

He looked around and said Premier Nikolai Bulganin, who had moved a few feet away, and other Russian leaders agreed with him. Bulganin moved back to say "Yes, I support him." A couple of other Russian bigwigs said they did, too.

In a tone which may have seemed reluctant to the Americans present, Khrushchev complained the people in the West "pay little attention to what we say and prefer to read tea leaves."

Then he added: If people were wondering why Russia sounded friendly lately and wanted to talk about peace it wasn't out of weakness.

No one had suggested that. There had been speculation in the American press that perhaps Russia needed time off from military preparations because of farm shortages and lagging industrial production.

Almost as if to reassure Khrushchev and the Russians and make them feel better about going to Geneva, Eisenhower yesterday told a news conference no one in the American government had suggested the Russians wanted to negotiate because they were weak.

works in the same office with her just a few feet away and just where she can see her every time she looks up from her desk—but she just didn't recognize her. The girl has a new short haircut and she doesn't look the same and even though she has had the haircut several days her co-worker hadn't got used to it enough to know her when she saw her there at the counter.

THE NEW PAPA wrote home to his parents: "The baby is so cute—I want a dozen just like it."

He probably has heard they are "Cheaper by the Dozen" and thinks it is true.

Hal Boyle's Column—

Welsh Actress Makes Good But Still Feels Like Stranger

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—She is just a young girl far from home trying to make good in a strange country.

And Dilys Lay has made good on the roughest street in America—Broadway. But not in the way she wanted to.

"All my life I've wanted to be glamorous and languid—and above all—to be taken seriously," sighed the Welsh lass, digging into a plate of luncheon eggs with the hearty sorrow of youth.

"And what do people call me? Cute—well, if it's cute they want me to be, it's cute I'll be. But I'd like once to be taken seriously. Even my friends call me Dilly."

Dilys made an instantaneous hit last fall as a giddy young flapper in "The Boy Friend," a musical which kids the skirts off life in the gay and memorable 1920s.

Playgoers found a Peter Pan quality in the vibrant little visitor, who can sing, dance, or play comedy. A critic compared her skilled drollery to that of Beatrice Lillie.

But the hazel-eyed little actress who had appeared in 10 plays before coming here, is now 21 and would like the world to realize that she is more than just a madcap. "In England it is a wonderful and important day—the day a girl turns 21," she said. "You are given a key to the house. You are a woman at last—at last."

"You are free to marry anyone, even without your parents' consent. Not that I would ever consider doing that myself. I don't think I could bring myself to do it even if I were 25."

Dilys wanted her mother, a former actress who became an accountant, to accompany her here, but mother turned her down.

"Mum told me I was on my own," she said. "She doesn't want to try to live her own career over in her children's lives, and she doesn't want to become a typical stage mother, always hovering over her darling."

So Dilys and Julia Andrews, the pale and lovely ingenue of "The Boy Friend," moved into an East Side apartment together. They have shared the fun and excitement of exploring fabulous Manhattan, a new world to both of them.

"But you know you can be lonely in the middle of thousands of people," said Dilys. "And sometimes, just walking along the streets, I'd find myself suddenly lonesome for London—the deep quiet of London."

"You know there's a subtle difference between coming home to an apartment and coming home to a home. Last Christmas Julie and I gave each other a dachshund named Melody."

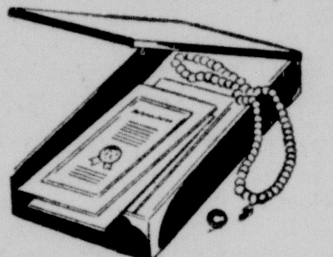

"Melody, that little dog, made us a home. We haven't felt so lonely since."

Dilys said the thing that impressed her most about America was the simplicity of social life, how much easier it was to make friends.

Wilson Centennial

Newspaper publishers will share in planning to commemorate during 1956 the life and principles of Woodrow Wilson. It's the centennial year of the World War I president's birth in Staunton, Virginia.

President Eisenhower appointed Maj. General E. Walton Opie and Arthur Hays Sulzberger, both newspaper publishers, and Bernard M. Baruch, as well as others who have long been interested in the Woodrow Wilson Birthplace Foundation in Staunton.

The object of the centennial is to bring national and international recognition to the former president of Princeton University, who became governor of New Jersey and later President of the United States, and whose ideals of world cooperation led to the founding of the League of Nations to which he dedicated his life.

Sometimes it takes a hundred years before the true worth of an individual can be measured historically. Woodrow Wilson was honored and loved by millions the world over but he was hated and despised by many here in this, his native country. This centennial celebration should help to give him his true place in the history of the world.

TV Seeking Freedom For Debate Shows

NEW YORK (AP)—Not long ago Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, said CBS would be happy to provide free television time for a series of "Lincoln-Douglas" type debates between the two major presidential candidates in 1956. But in order for CBS to do this, Stanton pointed out, the present communications law must be amended.

Following up Stanton's suggestion, Rep. Harris (D-Ark) has introduced a House bill that would relieve the networks of the requirement of giving equal appearance time to candidates. It would, Harris says, "give leeway to broadcasters and networks."

Leeway is just what television and radio want in 1956 when they hope for the biggest political coverage the medium has yet achieved. As the law now stands, CBS—and other networks—cannot give free time to major parties without giving equal time to minor parties. That may sound fair until you remember that in 1952 there were 18 parties and 12 presidential candidates.

"The reality of the situation is that we're a two-party country," Stanton said the other day, discussing the problem in an interview. "Sometimes, of course, important third parties emerge. If there came a situation like 1912 (when Theodore Roosevelt formed the Bull Moose party) naturally we'd cover a third party. It would be news."

Basically, television minds like Stanton's seek the type of freedom newspapers enjoy in covering politics. Stanton believes television is a natural medium for fresh approaches such as debates between principal presidential candidates.

San Bernardino, Calif., were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Houser.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Lehman and daughter Judy, attended a family dinner on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Henly.
